ALL ABOUT THE DRIVE

THE RACE TOWARDS "EVER-BETTER"

START YOUR ENGINES

Motorsport has been a part of Toyota for over 60 years. In 1952, our founder, Kiichiro Toyoda, declared the importance of car racing. Motorsport allows carmakers to push a vehicle's performance to its limits and beyond. By facing the challenges of harsh racing conditions, we can discover new ways to achieve advanced automotive technology.

"Even though the Vios GR-S gives you the exciting experience of driving a sporty car, it doesn't compromise on comfort and safety. It's a refined version of a race car that gives you the best of both worlds. An absolute pleasure to drive."

BETTER WITH EACH LAP

The world was first introduced to GAZOO Racing in 2007 when a modest racing team made up of employees from Toyota competed in the 24 Hours Nürburgring, and successfully completed the race using two used Altezzas. Their inspiring determination and passion became the TGR spirit of "pushing the limits" and paved the way to further success for GAZOO Racing and Toyota.

Since then, Toyota has participated in multiple large-scale races in the name of development and innovation.

2012 - Toyota joins the FIA World Endurance Championship (WEC) race.

2014 - Toyota wins the FIA World Endurance Championship (WEC), leading to improvements in its hybrid powertrain.

2015 - Toyota officially renames its motorsport division as TOYOTA GAZOO Racing (TGR), further strengthening its commitment to producing ever-better cars.

2017 - TGR returns to the FIA World Rally Championship (WRC), pushing their cars with even greater levels of engineering.

- TGR Festival emerges as a series of 4 races that take place throughout Peninsular Malaysia. TGR also debuts homegrown Malaysian racing drivers in their races. The main event of the TGR Festival is the Vios Challenge in which contestants go head to head racing in specially modified Toyota Vios race cars.

2018 - TGR wins the FIA World Rally Championship (WRC), the FIA World Endurance Championship (WEC), and the 24 Hours of Le Mans.

2019 - TGR wins the FIA World Endurance Championship (WEC) and the 24 Hours of Le Mans again.

2020 - TGR wins the FIA World Endurance Championship (WEC) and the 24 Hours of Le Mans for the 3rd consecutive time.

THE TGR SPIRIT

TOYOTA GAZOO Racing embodies Toyota's commitment to overcoming every limit to make "ever-better" cars.

To forge new technologies and solutions under the extreme conditions of motorsports, we will never stop innovating.

We race our cars to push ourselves to learn from the toughest challenges.

Competing on every kind of road, no matter what the challenge, inspires us to build "ever-better" cars. We're engineering Toyota's future DNA.

We'll keep pushing the limits to bring the freedom, adventure and joy of driving to everyone.

"This version of the Vios brings out the exhilaration of driving. It has been equipped to give you that satisfying feeling, as if you are racing on the track."
